Liability Disclaimer:

By signing this form, the parent/adult is assuming any and all responsibility for the student, including financial obligations. Art in Motion, its instructors, teachers and volunteers are not liable for personal injuries or loss of, or damage to personal property. Each student may decline to participate in any activity and is responsible for informing the instructor or the Directors of any limitations, physical or other, which may prevent full participation in the activity.

Art in Motion strongly urges all participants to consult with their physician or health professional before beginning any serious exercise program.

To the best of my knowledge, I am in good health and have no limitations, physical or otherwise, that would prevent my full participation in the program or class indicated above.

If I do have a limitation that may prevent me from full participation in the program or class indicated above. I have explained the nature of this limitation on the back of this page.

I do not hold Art in Motion responsible for any injury arising from or concurrent with my participation in the program or class indicated above.
